

Say not the struggle naught availeth

Text: Arthur Hugh Clough, 1849, alt.

Music: American traditional

WAYFARING STRANGER 98.98 D

arr. Kenan Schaeferkofer, 2021

The musical score is written on four staves in treble clef, with a key signature of three sharps (F#, C#, G#) and a 2/2 time signature. The melody is simple and folk-like, with a mix of quarter and half notes. The lyrics are printed below the staves, with line numbers 1, 2, and 3 indicating different verses. The first staff contains the first line of the first verse. The second staff contains the second and third lines of the first verse. The third staff contains the fourth line of the first verse. The fourth staff contains the fifth line of the first verse. The lyrics are: 1 Say not the strug - gle naught a - vail - eth, the wounds and la - bour are in vain, 2 If hopes were dupes, fears may be li - ars. It may be, in yon smoke con-cealed, 3 For while the tired waves, vain - ly break-ing seem here no pain-ful inch to gain, the fear - some foe faints not, nor fail - eth, and all un - chang - ing doth re-main. our com - rades chase e'en now the fli - ers, and, but for us, pos-sess the field. far back through creeks and in-lets mak-ing, comes sil-ent, flood - ing in, the main. For not by east - ern win-dows on-ly, when day-light comes, comes in the light; in front the sun climbs slow, how slow-ly, but west-ward, look, the land is bright.
